Harvey Rice, the founder of the Ohio Public School System, and Whereas, The pupils in the public schools of Cleveland have already nobly inaugurated a subscription therefor, by contributing in coppers, nickels and dimes, the sum of about 1, 500; therefore, Resolved, That this Association most heartily approves of the erection of such Memorial, and recommends to the teachers of Ohio that they contribute to the fund therefor. Chas. L. Loos, of the Committee on Resolutions, submitted the following report. Our meeting this year has been one of much profit and pleasure, the enrollment is the largest in the history of the Association, and the interest shown by the full attendance at all the sessions has been marked; therefore, Be it Resolved, 1. That we heartily appreciate the earnest efforts of Supt. L. W. Day and the Supervisors and Teachers of the Cleveland Schools, in making this one of the very best meetings of the Ohio Teachers Association. 2. That the thanks of the Association are hereby extended to Mr. M. E. Ingalls for his very practical and interesting address; to the Railroads for their liberal rates, and especially to Mr. D. B. Martin, of the Big Four route, for his courtesy in the general extension of...
