The process of manufacture is a secret one, having been discovered by some one who is generally unknown either to science or practice; 2. The fertilizer, or food, either contains ingredients of which the whole world, outside of a favored few, is ignorant, or else certain ingredients are so wonderfully compounded as to produce marvelous results. The farmer is advised to refer to the agricultural department of his State for an opinion on the fertilizer offered him in every instance before buying. The bulletin further says that while the best fertilizing materials--superphosphates, potash salts, nitrates and ammonia salts, industrial by-products, such as tankage, dried blood, cotton-seed meal, etc.--have become standard articles of commerce and there is no good reason why fertilizers compounded from them should not stand on their merits and be sold under easily understood names, yet absurd names and extravagant...
